DETAILS

Making a Difference for Homeless Angelenos

Our week was filled with incredible examples of community coming together to help homeless Angelenos. We opened the Silver Star Apartments in South L.A., a permanent supportive housing facility for veterans experiencing homelessness. The City and County also signed a memorandum of understanding to further cement our close partnership as we work together to end homelessness.

We have housed more than 24,000 homeless Angelenos since 2014, but we cannot rest until every Angeleno has a safe place to call home. That's why Supervisor Mark Ridley-Thomas and I stood together to encourage Angelenos to volunteer for the annual Homeless Count — which helps us measure progress as we get people off the streets, allocate resources and determine federal funding for our efforts. Click here to sign up and volunteer.

And on Saturday morning, dozens of hardworking and committed team members from my office and I joined the United Way of Greater Los Angeles' annual HomeWalk, where we put our feet forward to raise dollars and awareness for the movement to end homelessness once and for all.

Thanks for reading! As always, I'd love to get your feedback on how we are doing on Facebook & Twitter.
